Article (47)

The Executive Regulations shall determine the manner in which ballots shall be marked, so as to ensure the secrecy of the vote. Pencils may not be used for marking ballots.

A vote shall be held invalid if it is a conditional vote, given to more than or less than the required number in the elections, or if the voter indicated his/her opinion on a ballot different from the one he/she received from the Chairperson of the Sub-Committee, on a ballot showing his/her signature, or any other mark or sign indicating the identity of the voter or undermining the secrecy of the vote in any manner or form.

If HEC establishes an electoral system in which boxes are designated for specific ballots, and the electoral process was corrupted in the case of one of the boxes, or if the ballots or votes deposited therein were damaged or invalidated, this shall not automatically affect the validity of the electoral process for the remaining boxes, or the votes contained therein, all unless HEC determines that there are serious concerns that the aforementioned flaw has affected the fairness or credibility of the polling process with respect to the other boxes.

Vote-Counting by the Sub-Committee

Article (48)

Candidates may delegate others to attend the vote-counting on their behalf in the General Committees and Sub-Committees.

Without prejudice to the work system in the aforementioned Committees, it is allowed for the representatives of media outlets and civil society organizations, determined and authorized by HEC, to observe the voting and the vote-counting.

The Sub-Committee shall conduct the vote-counting at its headquarters. If it becomes necessary to transfer the vote-counting outside of the headquarters, the Chairperson of the General Committee shall issue a decision transferring the vote-counting to the headquarters of another Sub-Committees or to the headquarters of the General Committee, upon coordination with HEC.

The vote-counting shall take place under the supervision of the Chairperson of the Sub-Committee, and if the latter is unable to undertake this task, the Chairperson of the General Committee shall determine which substitute Committee Chairperson shall take his/her place.

If the elections are held under both individual-seat and list systems, the vote-counting procedures for the ballot boxes containing the individual-seat system ballots shall be separate from the vote-counting procedures for the ballot boxes containing the list system ballots. A separate report shall be drawn up for the vote-counting procedures of each.

In all cases, the vote-counting report must include a statement of the procedures indicating any objections made by the delegates of the candidates with regards to the vote-counting procedures. The report shall be signed by the Chairperson of the Sub-Committee overseeing the vote-counting. The number of registered voters at the Sub-Committee shall then be announced, along with the number of those who cast their votes, the number of valid and invalid votes, and the number of votes received by each candidate or list, as the case may be. A list shall be drawn up with these numbers, and it shall be signed, and a copy of which shall be delivered to whoever so requests from among the candidates or their delegates, against their signature in the report confirming receipt.

Upon the end of these procedures, the Chairperson of the Sub-Committee shall submit the vote-counting reports, the envelopes containing the voting or opinion ballots, and all papers belonging to the Sub-Committee to the Chairperson of the General Committee.

Vote-Aggregation by the General Committee

Article (49)

The General Committee shall review the election or referendum papers submitted thereto by the Chairpersons of Sub-Committees.

The candidates or their delegates may voice an objection to the validity of the voting or the vote-counting before the General Committee. This Committee shall decide on objections upon secret deliberations among its Members, and shall issue a decision with an absolute majority of votes. If both sides have equal votes, the side of the Chairperson shall prevail. The Chairperson shall read the decision of the Committee and its reasons out loud.

If the elections are held under both individual-seat and list systems, the Secretary of the General Committee shall draw up a separate report for the votes obtained by individual-seat candidates and those obtained by each of the lists.

In all cases, the Secretary of the General Committee shall draw up an aggregated vote-counting report of two copies, indicating the number of votes cast within the scope of the General Committee, the objections made by the delegates of the candidates with regard to the vote-counting or aggregation before the General Committee, and the decisions, and reasons thereof, of the Committee concerning such objections.

The report shall be signed by the Chairperson, the Members and the Secretary of the General Committee.

The Chairperson of the General Committee shall then announce the number of voters registered within the domain of the General Committee, the number of voters who cast their votes, the numbers of valid and invalid votes and the number of votes obtained by each candidate or list. A list shall be drawn up with these numbers and signed by the Chairperson of the General Committee, and a copy thereof shall be delivered to whoever so requests from among the candidates or their delegates against their signature in the report confirming receipt.

The Chairperson of the General Committee shall send all aforementioned papers to HEC, while keeping a copy of the aggregated vote-counting report with the General Committee.

Expatriate Voting

Article (50)

Every Egyptian residing abroad shall have the right to cast his/her vote in election or referendums as long as his/her name is registered in the Voter Database and he/she hold a National Identity Card or valid passport indicating the National Identity Number. The Chairman, Members and staff of the Electoral Committees Abroad shall cast their votes in the polling stations where they oversee the election.

Upon consulting with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, HEC shall issue a decision determining the number of Electoral Committees Abroad and their composition out of an adequate number of diplomatic and consular staff, and one or more titular secretaries for each Committee from among the staff of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs. The casting of votes shall take place at the premises of the Egyptian Consulate or Diplomatic Mission abroad, or any other premises to be specified by a decision of HEC in coordination with the Ministry of Foreign Affairs.

The polling process abroad shall begin before the polling day in Egypt, for period determined by HEC. The polling shall begin daily at 9 a.m. until 9 p.m. according to the time zone of the country where the polling takes place.

At the end of each polling day, the Committee entrusted with overseeing the election or referendum abroad shall take the necessary measures to close the ballot boxes in a manner that ensures the papers are not tampered with, and they shall be kept at a safe location at the Committee headquarters. The Committee shall ensure the ballot boxes are sealed safely before the beginning of the following polling day, and this shall be indicated in the necessary reports.

Upon the end of the polling process, the Elections Committee shall conduct the vote-counting and numerical tallying of those who cast their votes, the numbers of valid and invalid votes, and the number of valid votes received by each candidate or opinions expressed in the case of referendums. This shall be indicated in a report to be signed by the Chairperson and Secretary of the Elections Committee.

The papers related to the elections or the referendum, the voter list, the report, and any appeals submitted, shall be sent to HEC in accordance with the procedures and timeframe determined by HEC. HEC shall determine the manner in which Election Committees Abroad shall keep a copy of their results.

Except for what is provided for under this Article, the provisions of this Law shall apply to the rest of the procedures of election or referendums held abroad.

Article (51)

HEC shall publish the final results in the Official Gazette and in two widely circulated daily newspapers within a maximum of two days as of the date of the announcement of the results.

The Chairman of HEC shall send each successful candidate a certificate indicating his/her success in the elections within thirty days of the day the results are published.

(Chapter VI)

The Disqualification of a Candidate and Petitioning Against the Voting and Vote-counting Procedures

Disqualification of a Candidate

Article 52

If HEC has come to the conclusion that a candidate has committed a violation of the regulations provided for under the Constitution, the Law or the Decisions of HEC regarding electoral campaigning, the Chairman of HEC is to submit an application to the High Administrative Court to remove the name of this candidate from the final list of candidates running in the Constituency, provided that said application contains the facts, evidence and supporting documents evidencing that the candidate has committed the violation.

The Court Registrar shall notify the candidate or his/her delegate before HEC of the application within twenty-four hours from the date of submission of the application.

The candidate may review the application and its attachments, and may file submissions and documents within the twenty-four hours following the end of the period determined for his/her notification.

These periods may not be extended on grounds of official holidays or long distance.

Without prejudice to safeguarding the right to legal defense, the Court may decide on the application promptly, and it may do so without hearing submissions, or referral of the case to the State Commissioners Authority, where the papers suffice to decide on the application.

The Court shall issue its ruling on the substance of the application either by declining the application, or removal of the name of the candidate from the final list of candidates in the Constituency.

Article (53)

If a ruling to disqualify a candidate is issued pursuant to the provisions of the previous Article, and the ruling was issued before the beginning of polling process, the polling procedures shall continue after the disqualification of the candidate.

However, if the polling starts before the disqualification application has been decided on, the polling procedures shall continue provided that HEC shall suspend the announcement of the results of the election in which the candidate whose disqualification is applied for is participating, if he/she has received a number of votes leading to the announcement of his/her victory or qualification for run-off elections with others. If the court ruling is to disqualify the candidate, the election is repeated among the other candidates after the removal of the name of the disqualified candidate from the ballot.

Nevertheless, if this candidate has secured a share of valid votes which does not lead to the announcement of his/her victory or qualification for run-off elections with others, but HEC saw that the votes received by the disqualified candidate influence the distribution of votes over other candidates, compared to the situation where the name of that candidate were removed from the ballot, HEC shall suspend the announcement of the final result and shall submit the matter to the High Administrative Court via an application substantiated by documents. The Court Registrar shall notify the concerned candidates with a copy of the application via registered mail with acknowledgement of receipt, within twenty-four hours from the date of submission of the application. The concerned candidates, even if they were numerous, may review the papers within the twenty-four hours following the notification period.

These periods shall not be extended on grounds of official holidays or long distance.

If the court finds that the share of the votes received by the candidate influences the final result of the elections in the Constituency in any way, it shall rule that the election is to be repeated among the other candidates after the removal of the name of the disqualified candidate. If the court held that the percentage would not influence the final results, it shall order that the final result of the election be announced.

Without prejudice to safeguarding the right to legal defense, the Court may decide on the application promptly, and it may do so without hearing submissions, or referral of the case to the State Commissioners Authority, where the papers suffice to decide on the application.

In all cases, the ruling shall be executed by virtue of its draft and without announcement.

HEC shall publish a summary of the ruling in the Official Gazette and two widely circulated daily newspapers.

Mandatory Petitioning against Voting and vote-counting Procedures

Article (54)

Concerned parties may petition against any of the procedures of the voting or vote-counting in the elections.

The petition shall be submitted, substantiated by documents, to the competent General Committee during the polling and until twenty four hours after the announcement of the numerical tally of the votes in the constituency by the General Committee. The petition shall be recorded in a special register, which shall be indicated in a receipt given in exchange of the petition.

The General Committee must refer the petition, along with its remarks, to HEC immediately upon registration.

HEC shall consider, in its full composition, the petition and issue a reasoned decision within a maximum of forty-eight hours from the date of receipt of the petition, taking into account the balancing of justice and legitimacy considerations, and the requirements of fairness and impartiality regarding the voting and vote-counting processes.

HEC shall decide on the petition either by rejecting it, or nullifying partially or entirely the elections in the constituency concerned, wherever it is established that the fairness or legitimacy of any voting or vote-counting procedure has been affected by an essential flaw, with which it is likely that the final result of the vote-count does not fairly express the free will of the voters, and that if it had not been for this flaw, the final result of the election would have been different, in which case new dates shall be announced for holding the election.

HEC shall notify the petitioner of the decision via registered mail with acknowledgement of receipt within twenty four hours of its issuance.

HEC shall announce its decisions regarding petitions in the manner of its choice.

The periods provided for in this article may not be extended on grounds of official holidays or long distance.

Article (55)

Legal proceedings regarding the polling and vote-counting processes shall be inadmissible unless a petition has been made to HEC pursuant to the procedures provided for under the previous Article.
